

YEAR 2024
IMPACT REPORT

WHEN WOMEN RISE, COMMUNITIES TRANSFORM.

EMPOWERING CHANGE.
ELEVATING VOICES. DRIVING IMPACT.

We amplify the voices of women and girls in eastern Congo—through education, technology, and opportunity—so they can rise, lead, and transform their communities.

Hero Women Rising exists to improve the conditions in which women and adolescent girls live in South Kivu province, eastern D.R. Congo.

We do this by:

- ◆ Using education and technology to amplify their voices
- ◆ Teaching them to advocate for their rights and the natural environment
- ◆ Building their economic power
- ◆ Supporting the growth of local women-led organizations

When women rise, communities follow.

Dear Friends,

As we reflect on this past year, we're filled with deep gratitude and optimism. Hero Women Rising continues to grow in both strength and impact, and it's a testament to the commitment of our team, our partners, and the communities we serve.

This year, we welcomed new leadership and strengthened our foundation:

- We want to extend heartfelt thanks to Lanetta Allen who has made transformative contributions to our organizational systems. From implementing Salesforce and SharePoint to modernizing our accounting infrastructure and bringing in key IT and financial support, Lanetta has significantly improved our operations both in the U.S. and in the DRC.
- Our board continues to benefit from the dedication and experience of Valerie Bagley and Stany Nzabas. Valerie brings strategic clarity and has been a trusted mentor to Neema during her leadership transition. Stany, who was born and raised in eastern DRC and now resides in the U.S., combines lived experience, academic expertise in social work, and nonprofit training – helping us bridge cultural contexts and strengthen our bi-continental collaboration.

We are currently undergoing our first independent financial audit. More than a regulatory requirement, this process is helping us elevate our systems and prepare for deeper engagement with institutional partners.

BOARD MEMBERS

Valerie Bagley, MAPP
Board Secretary

Stany Nzabarinda, LMSW
Board Member

At our core, Hero Women Rising exists to amplify the courage and resilience of women and girls in South Kivu. This year, our support deepened in transformative ways, advancing education, environmental sustainability, and economic empowerment.

In a conflict zone, the path is rarely linear. We've learned that to deliver empowerment and education, we must also respond to urgent needs—providing food, shelter, or safety when required. While we don't consider ourselves a relief organization, we've expanded our strategy to incorporate emergency support when needed, recognizing that dignity and empowerment are only possible when basic needs are met.

Together, these initiatives create a multiplier effect: educating girls, empowering women as environmental stewards, and building resilient communities.

Hero Women Rising isn't just responding to needs, we're sowing seeds for generational change.

Looking ahead, our goals remain clear:

- Grow our community of supporters who believe in the power of women and girls to lead change.
- Continue investing in the capacity of our strategic partner, Mama Shujaa, in the DRC.
- Offer our donors meaningful ways to connect – whether through stories, impact data, or the quiet assurance that their contributions matter deeply.
- Cultivate long-term partnerships with mission-aligned funders who understand the importance of stability and shared purpose.
- Carefully expand our team, ensuring we can meet the increasing opportunities before us without compromising our grassroots integrity.

We are proud of what we've accomplished – and even more excited about what's to come. In times of crisis, while many organizations must pause or withdraw, Mama Shujaa remains present – thanks to your support.

Trusted. Courageous. Local. Rooted.

Together, we are building something enduring – one relationship, one program, one life changed at a time.

With gratitude and solidarity,

The Four Es: Our Programmatic Pillars

At Hero Women Rising, the Four Es serve as the foundation for determining the types of programs and projects we support. Each “E” reflects a core value of our mission – to uplift, equip, and empower women and girls in the eastern Democratic Republic of Congo through our grantmaking to grassroots, women-led organizations.

We currently partner with Mama Shujaa, a dynamic local organization advancing these pillars through innovative, community-rooted initiatives.

Emergency Response

In times of crisis, we stand with women and their families to ensure their most basic needs are met.

Economic & Social Development for Women & Girls

We support programs that promote economic independence and social empowerment for women, helping them become active agents of change in their communities.

Education & Training for Women & Girls

We believe education is a powerful tool for transformation. By investing in education and skills training, we unlock new possibilities for women and girls to thrive and lead.

Environmental Sustainability

Women are powerful stewards of the environment. We fund initiatives that address environmental challenges while equipping women to lead sustainable change.

Program Highlights from Eastern DRC

In partnership with Mama Shujaa – 2024 Impact at a Glance

In 2024, Hero Women Rising deepened our investment in locally led solutions through our partnership with Mama Shujaa, a grassroots organization rooted in the eastern Democratic Republic of Congo. From education to clean energy, economic empowerment to environmental restoration, each program funded this year reflects our commitment to uplifting women and girls as agents of change.

What follows is a snapshot of impact – stories of resilience, measurable progress, and community transformation made possible through our shared mission and your continued support. A special thanks to the Mama Shujaa team – especially Jeanne Namunezero (Director of Operations) and Espoir Nkomezi (Executive Assistant) – for their invaluable support in providing key program data and photos for this report. The team’s dedication to this work, even in the midst of adversity, continues to inspire all of us at Hero Women Rising.

Stories OF CHANGE

I am Nadiama Ange, a student of ULK (Kigali Independent University), in the second year of undergraduate school in the Faculty of Economics and Business in the Department of Accounting.

I am an orphan and the third child in a family of 4 children. The death of our father preceded by a few years, the death of our very dear mother. She left us when I was 7 years old. Because our orphanage did not support academics, it became the decision of my extended family whether I would be educated. Getting an education was very difficult emotionally and financially because money for school fees was always scarce. Thank the Lord, I achieved my state high school diploma in Social Work. It was a joy to finish my secondary studies but at the same time, I was of an age that I must leave the orphanage and find extended family to take me in. The uncertainty surrounding where I am going to go, what I am going to become filled my head with many questions.

A friend of my older brother was a newly married and she invited me to come live with her and her new husband. So now I had a place to live but no prospects for my future. This scholarship has changed my life and made my dream a reality.

"Thanks to this academic scholarship, I am on the path of transformation..."

Nadiama Ange

AND Lasting IMPACT

Thanks to this academic scholarship, I am on the path of transformation, of realizing my dreams and ambitions. I am emotionally stable. I am permanent in class with peace of mind. I have access to all quizzes and tests without fear of lack of payment of my academic fees, or the panic of not being eligible to take the tests for lack of school fees paid.

This academic scholarship is more than important for me and my family because it has changed my life and all aspects of my being. I feel comfortable and valued. Moreover, I have immense joy in my heart that I never felt before this scholarship, because in all the years of my studies, I never had the chance to participate in the course each time, nor in all the tests of the evaluations for the whole year. So you can understand how I am overwhelmed to benefit from it this year, for it was a miracle that happened to me.

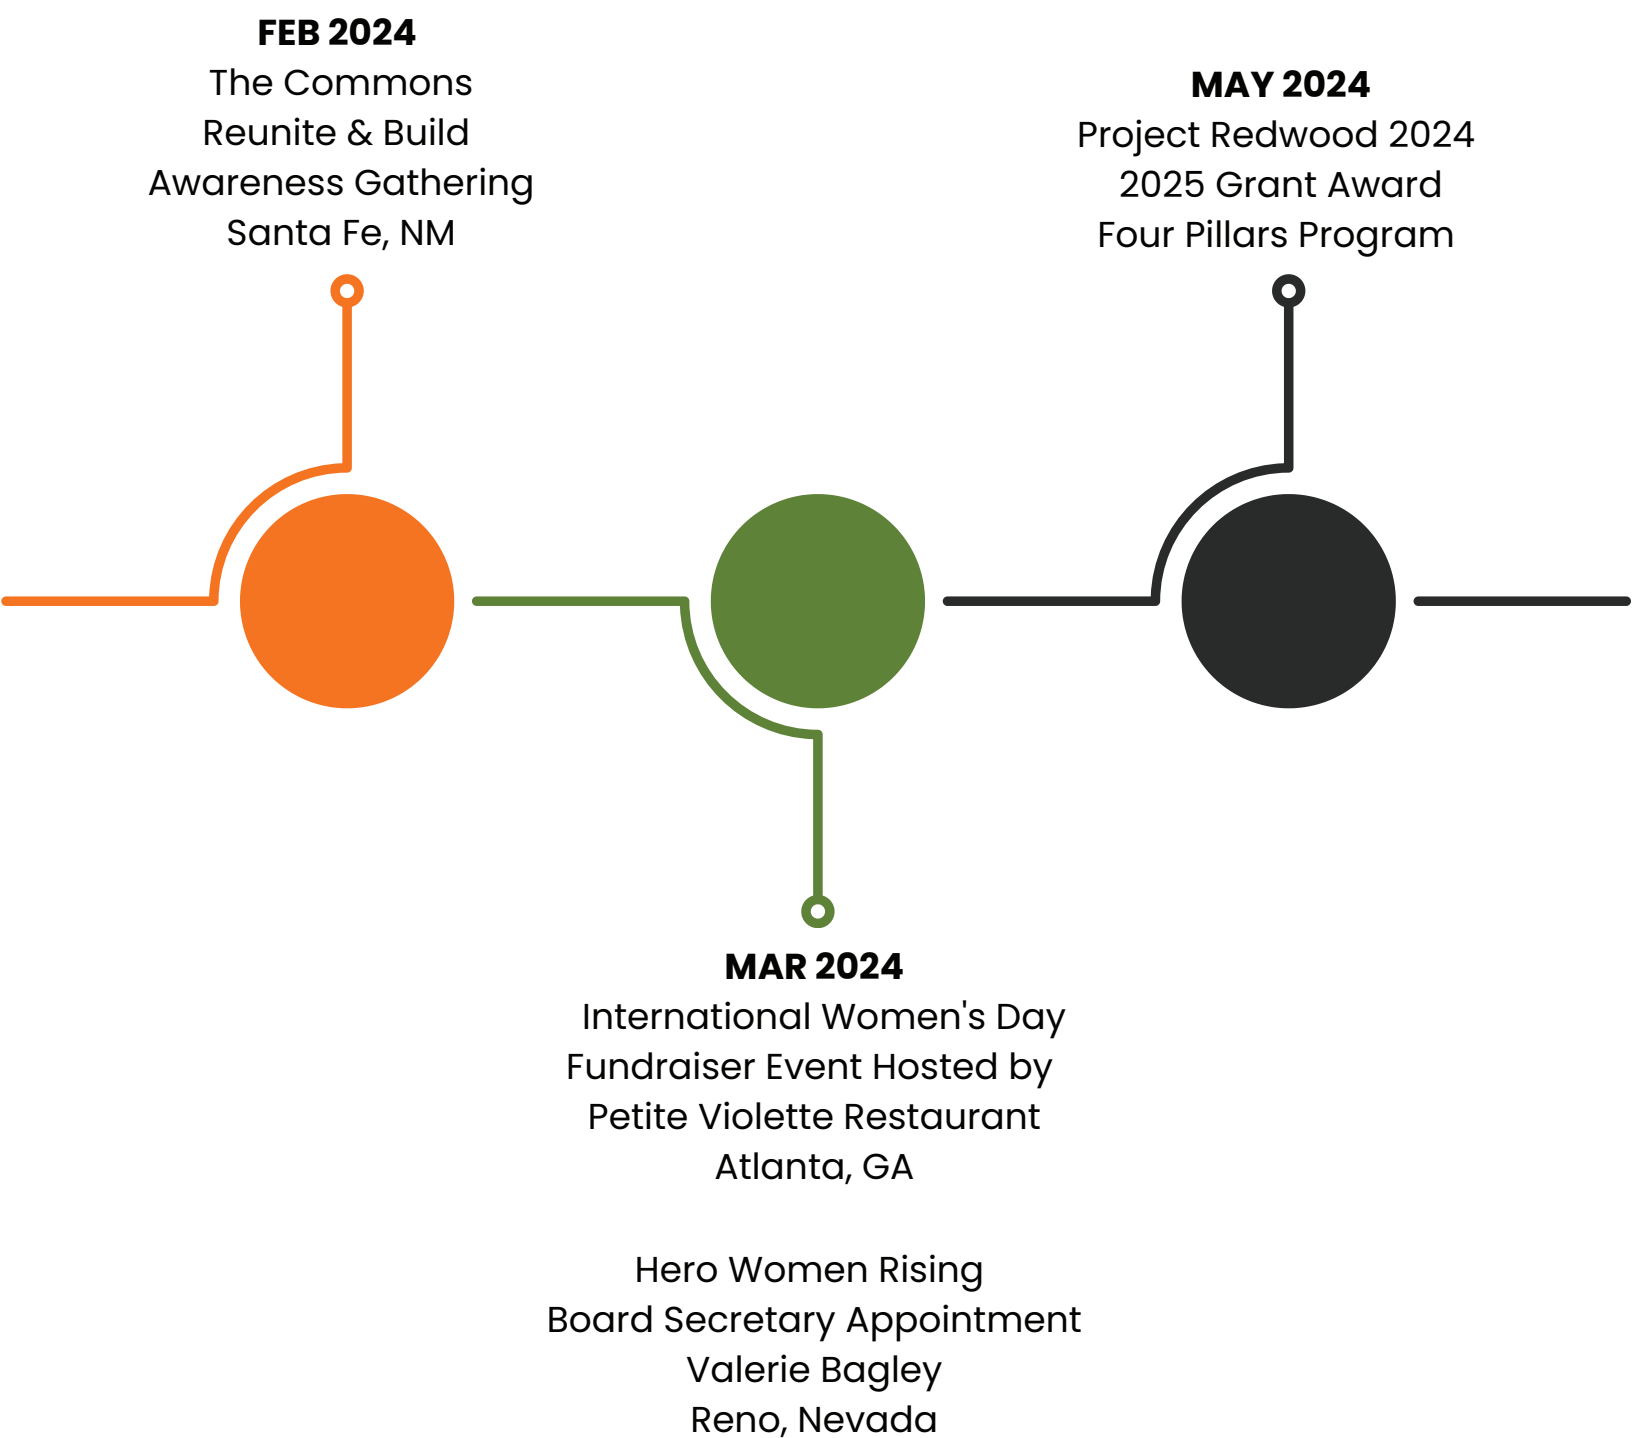

I would like to announce my successful completion of the first academic year, which allowed me to move up to G2. All of this is thanks to your financial and moral support, which I will never forget. I plan to finish my undergraduate degree in Economics, Business & Accounting, and continue with a master's degree in Accounting.

"Thank you very much for all your support.
You are a blessing to me!"

Fueling the Mission

Global Director, Communications & Development

When Women Heal, Generations Rise

At Hero Women Rising, we stand at the intersection of advocacy and impact, where the voices and leadership of women are not only amplified, but resourced. In eastern Democratic Republic of Congo, women and girls continue to face unspeakable hardship: armed violence, displacement, poverty and the systemic denial of basic human rights. Yet even under these circumstances, their courage remains unshaken. Our mission is to walk alongside them, not only in solidarity, but with strategy, investment and unwavering commitment to long term transformation.

A Year of Measurable Momentum

This year we made bold strides toward that vision. In 2024, Hero Women Rising experienced a 48% increase in revenue compared to 2023, closing the year over $514,000. This growth reflects not only increased confidence in our mission, but also a refined and strategic approach to donor engagement, partner development, and mission aligned storytelling.

We are proud to say that restricted programmatic funding increased by nearly 38% and our active donor base grew by over 22%.

Presence, Partnership, and Purpose

That growth wasn't only financial; it was relational and deeply rooted in the community. We rekindled partnerships from our early years and forged new ones that reflect both vision and value alignment.

In Santa Fe, our annual gala was a celebration of impact and culture featuring the electrifying dance of Musi Congo. The generous support of the Southwest community propelled us beyond our event goal of $50,000.

"These achievements are not just numbers, they are investments in legacy, leadership and lasting change."

In Atlanta, we partnered with Petite Violette Restaurant as our philanthropic event partner for International Women's Month. Their full sponsorship of the evening made it possible for us to raise critical funds while celebrating women's leadership in a space of elegance, generosity, and community.

“We may be small in size, but we are expansive in purpose, earning our place among global changemakers.”

Their full sponsorship of the evening made it possible for us to raise critical funds while celebrating women’s leadership in a space of elegance, generosity, and community. We were also honored to recognize Aisha I. DeBerry as our 2024 Women’s Month Honoree, a leader whose work beautifully reflects the values we champion.

Forging Ahead with Integrity

Though our scale remains modest, our scope is global. Our mission and impact place us in conversations with respected international organizations such as Project Redwood, Obama Foundation, Vital Voices Partnership, and United Nations recognized movements advocating for justice and equity. We do this with integrity, grit, and a deep understanding of what sustainable impact truly requires.

Behind every number and milestone is a story of resilience, a voice that matters, and a future worth investing in.

Behind the scenes is a small, mighty team that leads with a heart, discipline and a vision.

Why It Matters

Your partnership helps us:

- Deliver feminine hygiene kits
- Provide safe spaces for healing and community
- Invest in the leadership and livelihoods of Congolese women
- Tell stories that change the narrative and spark global action

A Word of Thanks

To our donors, partners and friends, you are the reason this mission moves forward. Thank you for believing in us and fueling a legacy that will outlive us all.

We’re just getting started.

With gratitude,

Beatrice A. Woody

2024 in Numbers

A Year of Generosity and Growth

In 2024, our fundraising efforts saw remarkable growth – fueled by the unwavering support of donors who believe in the power of women-led change.

We closed the year with a gross revenue of $514,247 representing a 48% increase from 2023. This growth allowed us to expand our program impact while strengthening our organizational foundation.

Even more encouraging, restricted funds for programs increased, from $223,591 in 2023 to $308,648 in 2024, directly fueling our mission on the ground in eastern DRC.

Our donor community also grew, increasing from 152 donors in 2023 to 186 in 2024. Each one represents a vote of confidence in our work and in the women and girls we serve.

This growth isn't just about numbers – it's about lives changed, futures rewritten, and communities transformed. Thank you for being part of this incredible momentum.

GEOFAMILY FOUNDATION

When Hero Women Rising was still taking root in the DRC, the GeoFamily Foundation saw our vision and leaned in with trust, heart, and generosity. From the very beginning, GeoFamily has believed in the power of women and girls to lead change in their communities. Their steadfast support has helped us respond to urgent emergencies, grow our staff, equip women with education and skills, and create lasting opportunities where few existed before.

What sets GeoFamily apart is their long-term commitment to funding the unseen but essential parts of nonprofit work – staff salaries, operational overhead, and organizational infrastructure. These aren't always the most glamorous areas to fund, but they are the backbone of our ability to deliver lasting impact. Their willingness to invest where others hesitate has made all the difference.

Their giving goes beyond funding. It reflects a shared commitment to environmental stewardship, community resilience, and transformational education – the core of GeoFamily's mission.

The GeoFamily Foundation doesn't just invest in projects. They invest in people, in potential, and in the future we're building together.

We are honored to walk alongside the GeoFamily Foundation. Their belief in our mission continues to open new doors, and their legacy lives on in every woman and girl who rises.
